2017 FORKLIFT OPERATOR TRAINING Forklift Operator Training Information

This option allows your company to meet O.S.H.A.’s regulations by SHARING THE RESPONSIBILITY of training with your company and EQUIPCO.

FORKLIFT OPERATOR TRAINING CLASS

Based on the O.S.H.A. regulation 1910.178, anyone who operates a forklift must be trained, evaluated and certified. Forklift Operators must be at least 18 years of age.

- Equipco’s program consists of capacity plate explanation, DVD format computer generated video, verbal instruction, graphics, written and oral reviews, daily start-up safety checks and hands-on* operational techniques.
- Each trainee will come away with a good basic understanding of how the forklift operates and how load handling affects the stability of the forklift. Their responsibilities as an employee to do daily start-up safety checks and demonstrate proper operation techniques.
- Each trainee will receive a certificate of completion and operator identification card.
- Equipco will maintain a history for a period of three years, after three years the trainee will have to re-certify to continue to operate a forklift.

Does not meet O.S.H.A.’s requirements for forklift product, site and application specific certification – This is covered in our IN HOUSE HANDS ON TRAINER class.

IN HOUSE “HANDS ON” CERTIFICATION TRAINER CLASS

This class is designed for your company’s authorities (e.g.: Managers, Front Line Supervisors or Safety Directors) that are in charge of overseeing your operators perform their daily tasks. If you run more than one shift at your company, you will need to have an authority from each shift attend this class. It is a prerequisite that anyone attending this class must first attend the Forklift Operator Training Class.

- Each trainee will come away with the understanding of O.S.H.A. regulation 1910.178 – which drives the need for forklift product, site and application specific certification. This regulation, along with ANSI, ITA, UL and NFPA regulations will be discussed. Their interactions are explained, as well as their impact on the actual information developed within the Hyster Training Program.
- At the conclusion of this class, trainees will be able to implement and enforce O.S.H.A.’s operator training “Hands On” certification requirements.
- Each trainee will receive a certificate of completion.
